I have examined the enclosed stamp, submitted as New Zealand 1863 2d dull deep blue, used, provisional printing on unwatermarked paper (Scott 26a, Campbell Paterson A2h, S.G. 96), and in my opinion it is not the provisional printing, but is the dull deep blue on star watermarked paper, Campbell Paterson A2d(12), Scott 12, SG 36, and has a horizontal crease.

NEW ZEALAND, 1890.

I have examined the postage stamp issued by the Colonial Administration of New Zealand, in 1890. "Queen Victoria - second sideface" 6 pence brown, printed from Die I, perforated 12 x 11 ½, on medium white wove paper with watermark "NZ over star", Stanley Gibbons type 12c (4 mm spacing and 11 ½ mm width), Stanley Gibbons Catalogue #212, used, with part of a barred postmark, a colour reproduction of which is below, magnified to 125% of true size, and am of the opinion that:

The stamp submitted is genuine, postally used. It has several light creases, including at the lower-left corner.

I have examined the enclosed stamp, submitted as New Zealand 1898 2/- blue green, unused, offset on back (Scott 82 var., Campbell Paterson E20a(Z), S.G. 258 var.), and in my opinion it is the genuine "offset on back" variety, with disturbed partial gum and a small paper adhesion at center left, nevertheless a very rare variety.
