In 1993, the Post Office made a special printing which made the current postal rate of 45c with a strip of 5 values of the 5th Definitive series. the 1c, 2c, 5c, 7c, and 30c. This was done for a promotion by the Reader's Digest, but was also available at Post Office counters. There are no cylinder numbers or other print information in the margins. As shown above, there are two variations, reading from right to left and left to right. As singles, the stamps are indistinguishable from the regular issue.
